

AUDIENCE WITH KAISER DELAYED

Sudden Death of Count Huelen-Haezler Given as the Reason.

MUCH FEELING IN GERMANY

VON BUELOW TO MEET THE EMPEROR TUESDAY.

Berlin, Nov. 15.—Because of the tragic death of General Count Huelen-Haezler, chief of the German military cabinet, the emperor has telegraphed Chancellor von Buelow that the audience arranged to take place at Kiel tomorrow aboard the battleship Deutschland, must be deferred. The emperor will return to Berlin on Tuesday, when the meeting between him and the imperial chancellor, which is expected to take place, Count Huelen-Haezler was laughing and talking after dinner at Donauerschingen last evening when he suddenly fell, stricken with apoplexy, in the emperor's presence, and died almost immediately. He held the position of imperial adjutant for fifteen years and was the emperor's constant companion. He had the ability to tell most interesting stories in the Berlin dialect and had an enormous influence in the army because of the promotions which had passed through his hands. The higher commands depended much upon his judgment.

Emperor Shocked.
Emperor William was greatly shocked at the death of his aide, and canceled all engagements at Kiel, but after a requiem mass was said at Donauerschingen early this morning, the emperor appeared at a wreath upon the casket containing the body, he went to Baden-Baden, where the emperor is visiting her great aunt, the Grand Duchess Louise. His majesty will return to Donauerschingen tomorrow and from there will proceed to Berlin.

Public irritation in general conversations wherever one goes, seems to increase with the delay in receiving the emperor. The expectation appears to be that the emperor, if he recognizes the feeling of the country, will make some sort of a declaration which will tranquilize his subjects.

Influence Waning.
The depth of the popular sense of grievance against the emperor is almost inexplicable. One of the leaders of the National Liberals in the reichstag said: "The emperor has lost 50 per cent of his influence in Germany within two weeks."

The general manager of one of the principal machine works in Berlin, who was present when this remark was made, added: "Yes, he has lost 50 per cent." Since the growing feeling against the emperor's personal initiative, both in internal and external affairs, was suddenly released by his now famous published interview, there have been exhibitions of violence that have astonished even the advanced radicals. The "interference" merely has been a more passionate expression of the German people's desire that the sovereign's power shall be limited to close constitutional interpositions.

Suddenly Became Conscious.
"The people have become conscious," says Heinrich Ruppel, editor of the Tagliche Rundschau, a conservative court organ, which is supposed to be the emperor's favorite paper, "that the emperor or the emperor's empire depend upon a single individual who has done nothing this week to quiet the fears of the people or to better his relations with them. His majesty seems to have little appreciation of how his personal hobbies and antipathies are regarded."

No journal can be found in the country that does not take the position that the emperor's personal power in affairs of state must be limited, and a great number of clippings embodying the comments of the newspapers have been assembled by the foreign office and forwarded to Baron Rucker-Jensisch. These will be submitted to the emperor for examination.

Parliamentary Control.
As to what terms should be adopted, the country at a whole seems to be in doubt, but the Socialists and Radicals are loud in their demands for strict parliamentary responsibility. Dr. Theodore Barth, leader of one of the radical parties of the reichstag, says that the emperor is the strongest colleague the Radicals have and that he has done more to show the people the need of responsible government than years of national debate could have accomplished.

The powerful conservative interests look to Prince Von Buelow to obtain fully observe that the emperor's German kingdoms and of parliament, and that in foreign affairs even the least important business shall be transacted alone through and by the consent of the chancellor.

What Von Buelow Will Say.
The chancellor will present to the emperor a strong statement with reference to the attitude of the reichstag, saying that the entire body has assented to declarations made by its members that authority in discussing with foreign governments is identified. He will communicate to the emperor the opinion formulated at the meeting of the bundestag.

that it would be wiser for the emperor not to express views affecting the relations of the empire with other countries except through the responsible ministers. He will endeavor to impress his majesty with the fact that the people at large and the press of the country are opposed to his intervention in affairs for which the chancellor and other German officials of state are responsible.

It is understood that there has already been an exchange of views between the emperor and Chancellor von Buelow, and it is believed for the present at least his majesty will be ready to meet the emergency by committing to the emperor the suggested reforms in his procedure.

AMUSEMENTS.

It was a thoroughly pleased audience which left the Orpheum last night after seeing the opening bill for the coming week. The bill does not suffer in comparison with the splendid offerings of the past two weeks, and if the Orpheum management maintains this standard of excellence for the season, the theatre-going public will have nothing of which to complain. There was not an act on the bill which was not thoroughly enjoyable.

The big production of the bill was the playlet, "Lucky Jim," in which Jane Courtnepe was featured. The play is in two acts, and was magnificently staged and mounted, the cabin in the Sierra Nevada being one of the most beautiful scenery ever seen in Salt Lake. Although Jane Courtnepe was featured in the production, she was forced to yield premier honors to Madam Ross, who is an exceptionally clever boy actor. The little play is a trifle melodramatic, but was splendidly presented.

Joe Cook and his brother opened the bill with a clever juggling turn called "Juggling in the Depot." The act ran smoothly, and the juggling feats were remarkable.

The fifteen minutes which the audience spent with the Hensley and his dainty assistant, Mai Sturges Walker, were a delight. Mr. Hensley's specialty is a travesty on sleight of hand and mind reading, and is both witty and clever. It was undoubtedly one of the brightest spots of the evening's performance.

Just why the Grassys should be dubbed "European Mystics" was not clear to the audience, but the two men of the trio do some extraordinary acrobatic stunts, and their performance on the weird musical instrument of their own invention was a thing of beauty.

Frank and Joe Wilson in their skit, "A Padded Cell," were one of the hits of the evening. They are really funny, and their singing was received with riotous applause.

Billy Gaston and Ethel Green presented their Nell Brinkley creation, "Spooeyville." Miss Green might have stepped from out of the pages of a novel, her pictures of dainty femininity. She has an excellent voice and is exceptionally graceful, while Mr. Gaston does a really clever bit of eccentric dancing.

The Saytons have a novelty in their contortion act, "In the Realm of the Alligators."

A new western melodrama, "A Cowboy's Girl," came to the Grand theatre last evening and pleased the usual large Sunday audience. It is a typical, breezy, and fairly well filled to the brim with situations that hold the attention steadily, mingled with good comedy and capital acts by a really good company.

The scenic effects are pleasing, and the good specialties by different members of the company are introduced during the action of the play that were loudly applauded. In the role of Nell O'Mally, "A Cowboy's Girl," Miss Anna May was especially pretty, and J. Raymond Barrett, as Jack Sutton, made a favorable impression upon his auditors by his clever acting.

The engagement is for the first half of this week. The last half of the current week will be given over to "Why Girls Leave Home," the drama which made such a favorable impression when here last year.

With the close of work today at the Colonial on Third South street, the new playhouse will be practically ready for the formal opening of the theatre Wednesday evening.

The hanging of the heavy, rich draperies began. These draperies cover every opening in the walls of the foyer, auditorium and boxes. They are the last of the decorations to be put in place. The two time, heavy carpet with which the floor has been covered is down, and the seats are installed. Tuesday and Wednesday will be utilized in putting the finishing touches on the interior of the new theatre.

Nordica arrives early in the week direct from New York. In letters to Mr. Cort she has expressed great interest in the new Colonial and declares she is delighted to have the opportunity to open the playhouse.

An expected arrival today is that of Calvin Heilig, president of the northwest theatrical association, who comes to superintend the final arrangements of the opening with Mr. Cort. The seat sale at Layton-Denney music store for Wednesday evening is breaking all records for seat sales for "first nights" in Salt Lake, with the die three were rung was practically all taken up.

PLUNGED OVER PRECIPICE
Automobile Accident at Spokane in Which One of the Occupants Met Death.

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 15.—Carrying one of its occupants to her death, an automobile in which were seven persons plunged over a precipitous bluff overlooking the Spokane river shortly after 6 o'clock tonight. The party in the machine was composed of William A. Nichols, president of the Nichols Investment company; his three sisters, Mrs. H. C. Swann, Miss Mary Nichols and Miss Anna Nichols; H. C. Swann of the Swann-McCain Electrical company, a brother-in-law; Chauffeur Charles Chant and Mrs. William Nichols. Miss Mary Nichols died three hours after the accident.

It was quite dark, and the chauffeur, who was evidently unfamiliar with the road, did not take into account the fact that a draw in the bluff exists in the avenue. The front wheels of the machine went into the draw and the machine and the machine began to slide down the steep incline. When it had gone but a few feet in a descent, the automobile turned over, and, gathering momentum as it went, it crashed down the almost perpendicular incline amid a shower of loose boulders and small stones which it landed, partly buried, fifty feet below.

When the automobile first turned over, all the occupants were spilled out a gully which doubtless accounts for the escape of at least the majority of the party from death.

STRUCK BY FREIGHT TRAIN.
Sacramento, Cal., Nov. 15.—The four-year-old son of C. M. Derby was instantly killed, and Mr. and Mrs. Derby were badly injured at Natoma, eighteen miles east of this city, today, when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a freight train going forty miles an hour.

SCHOOL ELECTION GOSSIP

Indications Point to the Selection of an Almost Entirely New Board.

Considerable interest in the coming school board election is being aroused and it is likely that there will be a sharp rivalry for the places on the board. The election has been called for Dec. 2 and the Republicans have called their primaries for next Thursday. The Democrats have not yet called their primaries. But few, if any, of the present members of the board aspire to re-election, so that the indications are that a complete new board will be elected. It is believed that H. W. Gwilliam, who succeeded Dr. R. S. Joyce as president of the board, might be induced to continue on the board and that W. H. Williams, recently appointed to succeed Dr. Joyce as member from the Second ward, will accept a re-nomination. The other members, T. H. Carr, M. S. Browning and Asael Farr, will not be candidates for re-election.

As the board now stands, there is but one member who was elected by the people at the last election, that being H. W. Gwilliam. T. H. Carr succeeded Dr. R. S. Joyce, who resigned, and M. S. Browning was chosen to succeed H. H. Thomas when the latter resigned to accept the superintendency of the State industrial school, and W. H. Williams was chosen to succeed Dr. Joyce, who moved from the Second ward. Those who favor a new board entirely as the board now stands, are the members of the board, all of whom have given entire satisfaction in the performance of their duties.

The friends of H. W. Gwilliam are of the opinion that he should be re-elected because he was the original mover in the matter of building a school. The bonds for such a structure have been voted and sold and the plans have been accepted by the board. Work on the building has not been commenced, for various reasons, and it is held that no one could be selected who could better represent the people in this matter than Mr. Gwilliam.

An effort was made to make the school board election a non-partisan one, but this was hardly more than a pretense, for there was a cry raised, and accordingly the election was ordered along old lines. Hereafter the board will be composed of four Democrats and one Republican, and from the activity in the matter exhibited by the Republicans, the opinion is that they desire to get control of the school board.

THREE CONFERENCES HELD.

All the Stakes in Weber County Are Represented.

Conferences were conducted in three of the stakes in Weber county yesterday. Special music programs were arranged for each meeting. All were well attended.

L. W. Shurtliff of the Weber stake and High Counsellors Heber Scowcroft, Fred G. Clark and Adolph Fernlund conducted the conference in the South Weber meeting house at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Following this service a high priesthood meeting was held.

President C. F. Middleton conducted the conference at Riverdale and President John Watson, aided by Counsellors J. W. P. Volker and R. W. Bachman, conducted the conference at Uintah.

Sunday School Union Meeting.
The Sunday schools of the Weber stake had their monthly union meeting at the Weber Stake academy, commencing at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The meeting was conducted by Stake Superintendent B. H. Golding. Among those in attendance was General Superintendent at Large Stephen L. Richards of Salt Lake City. Mr. Richards was the speaker of the day. Apostle D. O. McKay also spoke. Reports received from the different districts in the stake showed a healthy increase in enrollment and an improvement in the work of the various schools.

Death of Frank H. Davis.
Frank H. Davis, for more than nineteen years a resident of Weber county, died at his home in Riverdale shortly after 10 o'clock yesterday morning, after an attack of cancer, from which he suffered for more than a year. Mr. Davis was well known throughout the county. He was a carpenter. He was born in St. Paul, Minn., June 27, 1853, and is survived by his widow and one son. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Rev. H. D. Zimmerman will preach the funeral sermon. Burial will be in the Ogden City cemetery.

Saloonkeeper Arrested.
M. Ingebreten, proprietor of the Emerald saloon, was arrested yesterday by the police for selling liquor on Sunday, and it is expected he will have a hearing today. For some time it has been the desire of the administration to reduce the number of saloons in Ogden. The position was taken that no new places would be given a license and that any place now doing business illegally by the city ordinances would have its license revoked.

Mrs. Heller Better.
Mrs. T. B. Heller, who was knocked down and rendered unconscious by a blow from a bicycle on Saturday, was yesterday reported not to be seriously injured, as was first anticipated. It is now thought that she will speedily recover.

Ogden Briefs.
R. L. Williamson was arrested at Layton yesterday by a deputy sheriff upon a warrant charging him with defrauding a man in a horse deal about a month ago.

Reports from the Ogden General hospital yesterday were to the effect that Dr. G. W. Perkins' condition was somewhat improved. His condition is still considered critical, however, and grave fears are entertained for his recovery.

Bishop E. W. Wade, commercial agent for the Utah Railway company, was in this city, seriously ill at his home, 622 Twenty-third street. Mr. Wade has been ill for some weeks, and yesterday his condition was said to be somewhat worse.

Frank Doyle, a deserter from the United States navy, surrendered himself to Officer Cooper last evening and asked that he be sent back to Mare Island navy yard. He was turned over to the government authorities.

An overheated furnace caused a small fire in the Western Foundry company's building at Twenty-third street and Lincoln avenue shortly before 10 o'clock last evening. The blaze was extinguished with the aid of chemicals and damage was slight.

Regular Sunday services were held at the Ogden tabernacle at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and there was a large attendance. The tabernacle was under the direction of Professor J. E. Ballantyne, rendered a special program. Professor J. C. Jensen of the Weber Stake academy was the principal speaker.

NEWS FORECAST PROMISES MUCH

Abroad Great Interest Is Taken in the Attacks Made Upon the Kaiser.

COURT TRIALS OVER HERE

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER TO APPEAR ON WITNESS STAND.

Foreign developments seem likely to rival, if they do not overshadow, domestic news during the coming week. The extraordinary events of the past few days in Germany, following the publication in London of an interview in which the German emperor was quoted as discussing foreign affairs with marked absence of reserve; the drastic comments passed upon the interview in the German parliament, and the embarrassing position in which the whole affair has placed Chancellor von Buelow in his delicate situation between the sovereign and the imperial legislature, have all added immensely to the interest of the world in the coming meeting of the kaiser and the chancellor.

Crisis in China.
A crisis in the history of China, and especially in that of the Manchu dynasty, has come to a head in the death of both the emperor and the dowager empress.

Negotiations continue between the European powers regarding the tangle in the Balkans.

Maneuvers of the Japanese army and navy will conclude Monday with a review by the emperor at Nara. The emperor will go thence to Kobe, where, on the 17th, he will witness the greatest gathering of Japanese war vessels since the Russo-Japanese war.

Important Trials.
Important litigation and court trials occupy a large place in the news of the week. The most conspicuous figure visible in this part of the week's program is John D. Rockefeller, who, with John D. Archbold and J. A. Moffitt of the Standard Oil corporation, has been summoned to testify for the defense in the action of the government for the dissolution of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey. The case is to be heard in New York City.

The Ruef case at San Francisco will proceed, notwithstanding the murderously attack on the Standard Oil company. Henry last Friday, and at La Porte, Ind., the trial of Ray Lamphere for the murder of Mrs. Belle Guinness will continue.

Nance O'Neil's Trial.
The trial of Nance O'Neil, the actress, and her manager for alleged infringement on copyright of the play of "The Fires of St. John," is scheduled to proceed this week at San Francisco.

Sylvester G. Williams of Denver, special examiner for the United States court in the anti-merger suit aimed at the dissolution of the Harriman system of railroads, will begin taking testimony in New York City on Tuesday.

Tuesday is the day set for the "labor legislation dinner" at the White House, which has been the subject of much comment, especially because of the failure of President Roosevelt to invite President Gompers and other officers of the American Federation of Labor.

National meetings of the American Federation of Labor and Patrons of Husbandry, better known as the Grange, continue at Denver and Washington, respectively.

A last echo of the political campaign is expected this week in the publication by the Republican committee of the contributions received by the national committee for the presidential campaign.

INVITE CO-OPERATION.
Managers of Auditorium Pavilion Ask for Investigation.

As a result of the recent complaints made by juvenile court officers about Salt Lake dance halls, Managers Schumacher and Bradford of the Auditorium pavilion will ask that the authorities make a careful investigation into the conditions at the Auditorium. They both declare they are anxious to work with the police in their efforts to give the streets at night and visiting various places of amusement without proper supervision. The managers say they have established an iron-clad rule denying admission of young girls and persons of questionable character.

On Saturday evening there will be a rather unique entertainment, when a "Merry Widow" party will be given. The party will be awarded to the ladies wearing the most attractive and the most unique creation in the popular headgear.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.
At the local High school 1,400 students will assemble in the Eaton gymnasium to pay tribute to the football team which brought honor to the school by winning the state championship last Friday.

Coach Callahan, together with many old-time red and black stars, will be present. The High school band will be called on to perform. All of the members of the team will address the meeting.

The second meeting of the High School Athletic association will be called today at the close of school by President Wire in order to decide whether or not the football team will be presented with football pins.

The "H" club has decided upon a design as the insignia of the organization. All members will soon be wearing a watch fob with the charm containing a block letter "H" surrounded with the emblem of the different branches of High school athletics.

A Beautiful Picture Book.
"There is nothing like it in America," the Theatre Magazine. Of course, the Tribune-Reporter prints it.

"Get the Habit."
Visit the Empire theatre. Special "living pictures" this week, "Indian Artist," "Out of Tune" and "Birth of a Nation."

Auditorium Pavilion.
Merry widow party Saturday evening, Nov. 21. Prizes for most attractive hat and most novel one. Select dancing.

CHARITY BALL.
Tickets on sale at Schramm's and Smith Drug company.

LOCAL BRIEFS

A FALSE FIRE ALARM rung in from Box 32 gave the fire department a hard run to Second South and West Temple streets about 8 o'clock last night.

THE PRYING OPEN of the lid just a little bit yesterday in the Broughton bar at 146 West Second South street led to the arrest of Bartender Alexander and four other men. They were found in the saloon shortly after noon yesterday, but after appearing at the jail were released under bonds.

A YOUTH named James Wagner was arrested last night by Detective Burt after he was caught working the ticket speculating game at the Orpheum theatre. Wagner had bought some tickets and was selling them at an advanced price. He will have a hearing today.

Boys' thoughtlessness in the handling of a rifle came near resulting in an injury or fatality yesterday forenoon, when a bullet was fired into a fairly well loaded Ford Douglas car. The accident occurred on the reservation just after the car had left the fort, and although the bullet struck and shattered a window of the car, fortunately no one was injured.

Investigation into the accident developed that two boys had been in the vicinity shooting at a target with a .22-calibre rifle, and that unknowingly, or without thought, they had shot in the direction of the car track.
